INFRASTRUCTURE SECTOR CONGRATULATES THE COALITION ON RETAINING GOVERNMENT

The national infrastructure sector congratulates the Liberal National Coalition Government on its successful re-election and looks forward to continuing its productive relationship, says industry think tank Infrastructure Partnerships Australia.

“The Berejiklian Government has been a great friend of the infrastructure sector, and we congratulate the Premier and her team on their victory,” said Infrastructure Partnerships Australia Chief Executive, Adrian Dwyer.

“We also congratulate Michael Daley and his Labor team for running a hard-fought election campaign.

“It’s clear that infrastructure was one of the deciding issues this election and the Coalition’s ambitious infrastructure agenda resonated with voters.

“As happened in Victoria, the electorate have backed in an infrastructure program that is set to transform the state.

“This election result should be a signal to both major parties at the Federal level that a focus on infrastructure is a successful strategy.

“The Berejiklian Government has won over voters by laying out a bold agenda for infrastructure across roads, rail, health, and education.

“These funding commitments have been made possible because the Berejiklian and past Coalition Governments have done the hard reform work to repair the budget through asset recycling and prudent fiscal management.

“With the Coalition returning to Government, the Western Harbour Tunnel, Beaches Link and the F6 Corridor that would have been pulled under the Opposition, will now proceed alongside a range of critical investments in our public transport,” said Mr Dwyer.

Infrastructure Partnerships Australia is an industry think tank and executive member network providing independent policy research focused on excellence in social and economic infrastructure.
